Livingston: Livingston and MALEV sign wet lease agreement

Livingston, the Italian leisure airline, offering both scheduled and charter flights and owned by Ventaglio Group, announces that it has signed a wet lease agreement with the Hungarian carrier, MALEV. The contract will see Livingston lease a Boeing 737-800 from the Budapest-based company (registration mark HA-LOH, all economy configuration/180 seats) for the entire IATA Summer season 2006.

Livingston intends to use the aircraft for daily flights and for short-/medium-haul charter services from some of the major Italian airports to Greece, the Red Sea, Tunisia and Spain/Balearic Islands, in collaboration with its leading partner tour operators.
