- Milan Malpensa/San Salvador: weekly scheduled flight
- Milan Malpensa/Male: all-business connection

Livingston, the Italian private airline owned by Ventaglio Group and specialized in both scheduled and charter leisure flights, presents its flight schedule for the IATA Winter season 2007/2008 (from 28th Oct. to 29th Mar.). All connections are operated by the Airbus A330-200s (297 seats/business and economy class) and A321-200s (210 seats/economy class).

As to long-haul scheduled flights, the real piece of news is represented by the weekly, non-stop connection between Milan Malpensa and San Salvador (El Salvador), operating from the 21st Oct. Moreover, the winter schedule includes the long-haul rotations to the well-known destinations offered by the airline, among which Brazil, which is connected to Italy through five weekly flights reaching the cities Maceio, Fortaleza, Recife, Salvador de Bahia, Natal, Porto Seguro and Rio de Janeiro. As to the long-haul charter connections, after a two-year stop, the winter flight schedule introduces once again the connections towards Panama (Panama City), Colombia (Cartagena), Myanmar (Yangon) and Thailand (Phuket), in co-operation with the Tour Operator Dimensione Turismo. With reference to the short/medium-haul charter connections, new routes have been introduced, namely from Milan Malpensa and Verona Villafranca to Senegal (Dakar), Gambia (Banjul) and Portugal (Porto Santo).

Last but not least Livingston flies "ALL BUSINESS" to Maldivé Islands!!!

In co-operation with the partner Tour Operator Hotelplan, starting from the 22nd Dec., a weekly Saturday flight will connect Milan Malpensa to Male (Maldivé Islands), with a technical stop-over in Bahrain, both on the outbound and on the inbound flights. This connection will be operated by a MD83 aircraft, leased by Livingston, on a wet-lease basis from the French private airline Blue Line, specialized in all-business/VIPs flights. The cabin is equipped with 60 comfortable seats and the flight offers a superior onboard service, from catering to In-flight Entertainment, plus the possibility of comprehensive customization, starting right from the passenger's arrival at the airport.
